Mr. Rich, a DNC staffer, was creating a high-tech voter registration system for the Democratic National Committee when he was shot in the back and murdered in July. It remains unsolved.

BACKGROUND INFO:

Late last month, and again early this month, Burkman called on two Congressional committees to investigate the murder after receiving confidential information from a source that Russia may be involved in the murder. Burkman went public for the safety of himself and his family.

Seth Rich, 27, had been creating a high-tech voter registration system for the Democratic National Committee, was shot in the back while walking home in the Bloomingdale neighborhood in Northwest Washington on Sunday, July 10, 2016.

WikiLeaks founder Julian Assange has suggested that Rich was the source of the DNC email leaks and offered a $20,000 reward, though that has never been proven.

In his effort to help solve the case, Jack Burkman has:

-Contributed $105,000 to the reward money offered in Seth Rich's murder, making it the largest ever for a D.C. homicide.

-Walked and canvassed the neighborhood with the Rich family

-Created and paid for bus depot billboards in the neighborhood where Seth Rich lived and the murder happened.

-Created and is hosting the website Who Killed Seth? (www.whokilledseth.com).
